'Guys with Kids' latest sitcom about trying to be cool parents

By Jacqueline Cutler

"Guys with Kids," NBC's new sitcom set in a mythical version of New York where no one locks apartment doors and people are fine with babies in bars, has its sneak peek Wednesday, Sept. 12.

The half-hour sitcom then settles into its regular time slot two Wednesdays later. It isn't fantastical the way "Grimm" is but rather conveniently mythical the way Hollywood likes life, with incredibly nasty ex-wives walking all over spineless men and kids running roughshod over befuddled parents.

Though a knee-jerk reaction would be that this is inherently sexist — why should it be funny just because males are minding the children? — the show is neither incredibly funny nor offensively sexist, and it has promise based on one of the couples.

The strongest is Tempestt Bledsoe ("The Cosby Show") and Anthony Anderson ("Law & Order") as Marny and Gary. She has a corporate job while he minds their four sons.

"I think Marny is very much in love with her husband, her children," Bledsoe says. "She is very passionate about wanting to have a happy home. Gary is staying home with the children. Who is best equipped to do this when you have four kids? She wants her kids fed, bathed and in bed every night."

Jamie-Lynn Sigler ("The Sopranos") plays Emily, a stay-at-home mom married to Nick (Zach Cregger, "Friends With Benefits"). He has a job outside the house but helps with their school-aged daughter and baby son.

Nick's college buddy is Chris (Jesse Bradford, "The West Wing"). He has a baby son and a control-freak ex-wife, Sheila (Erinn Hayes).

The pilot begins with three guys watching a game in a bar, and when their team scores, they chest-bump. When they turn around, they all have babies strapped to their chests. It is cute, especially when they use the babies to high-five.

"It's not really about what a drag it is to have kids," explains co-creator and co-executive producer Jimmy Fallon. "It's more like, 'I'm bringing the kid to the baseball game, and I forgot diapers. How do I make a diaper out of a hot dog wrapper and a napkin?'" Tempestt Bledsoe stars in "Guys With Kids," which has its sneak peek Wednesday on NBC.

"Couple Time,"
vimeo.com/album/1688665

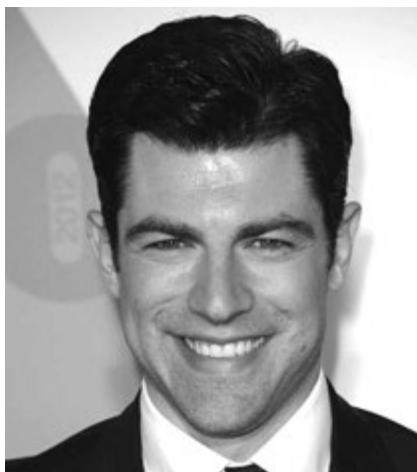

Longtime real-life couple and comedians Patrick Carlyle and Allyn Rachel — who met while attending NYU's Tisch School of the Arts — star in this series of short vignettes that focus on the small, intimate (but not necessarily romantic), everyday moments between lovers when they're alone, from driving to carving pumpkins to feeding the cat, named Rambo. Fox has optioned the concept for a possible series.

IN FOCUS

"Finding Susan Glenn," youtu.be/iR7NTPwSMcE

Max Greenfield, who plays Schmidt on Fox's hit comedy "New Girl," is the writer, director and star of this sweet, charming Web series presented by, of all things, Axe body spray. He plays a guy pining over the girl that got away — called Susan Glenn — and on a quest to find a way to deal with his feelings. In Episode 2, he discovers that he's not alone and that even guys "with game" have a Susan Glenn.

IN FOCUS

www.youtube.com/user/sutterinksoa

In this series of confessional videos — with "WTF" standing for just what you think it does — "Sons of Anarchy" creator and executive producer Kurt Sutter talks to fans about issues surrounding his FX biker drama (and the drama the outspoken, somewhat profane Sutter creates for himself). Also at the site is "Before the Anarchy," a series of shorts that go behind the scenes of the show, which returns on Tuesday, Sept. 11.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

The BAYONNE SPECIAL IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT

Starting this past July 1st, the Bayonne Urban Enterprise Zone Board has assumed the management of the Bayonne Special Improvement District (Bayonne SID), which extends from 17th to 30th Streets on Broadway. This change in management occurred as part of Mayor Mark A. Smith's effort to make government more efficient and accountable. By moving the management of the Bayonne SID to the UEZ Board, more of the tax monies that are assessed on the businesses in the district will be spent on efforts to improve the district as opposed to office expenses and overhead. Mayor Smith recognizes the importance of a thriving downtown shopping district and is committed to working towards the goal of making Broadway a destination for families to shop and dine.

The district already has a nine-hole miniature golf course that has recently been upgraded. With special thanks to Lauren Dellabella, a successful farmer's market has been added to the district every Tuesday from 2pm to 7pm until the end of October. The farmer's market continues to grow and attracts over 600 people each Tuesday.

Additionally, during the past two months the Bayonne SID and the Bayonne UEZ has hosted various events each Saturday. Activities such as face painting, balloon sculpting, caricaturist drawings, sand art, and strolling costumed characters have been located throughout the district. Over a thousand children have enjoyed these fun-filled events.

The Bayonne SID will continue its efforts to make Broadway attractive for families. Several fun events are already being planned for the upcoming holiday season.

In its dual mission to attract both new businesses and new consumers to Broadway, the Bayonne SID will always remember that at its heart Broadway should always be a place where our residents happily choose to shop, dine, or simply take a stroll. So bring your children for a round of golf, bring your spouse to the farmer's market, or bring your son or granddaughter to have their face painted. Our merchants are ready to serve you, and Broadway is and always will be part of your community.

For any additional information regarding the Special Improvement District, please give us a call at 201-436-5057.

By Toby Goldstein

BOLD AND BEAUTIFUL: When Hope called a press conference to announce that she's ending her Perfect Wedding collection, as well as her relationship with Liam, someone else took over the event to make his own shocking disclosure, an action that infuriated Liam and Caroline. Just as Rick had hoped, Caroline turned to him for comfort. Bill had a hard time covering his delight about the end of Liam and Hope's romance. Coming: Liam won't give up on the woman he wants.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: Melanie, weighed down by her emotions regarding her decision, went back into the courtroom after running out the first time and testified on Nick's behalf, resulting in Nick Fallon being granted parole. While Melanie felt she owed her grandmother a second chance for Nick, Brady feared that Fallon could be more dangerous than ever. Coming: Working closely with Daniel leads Jen to awkward situations.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: With the poison affecting more people each day, Todd convinced Port Charles' richest citizens to pay Jerry's demands. While McBain thought he might know where to find the cure, Patrick had to return to the lab for the first time since Robin's death to try to create an antidote, helped by Maxie. Tracy, the only person not affected, hoped that she could provide lifesaving help. Coming: Johnny is ready to tell all to Carly. THE L.A. COMPLEX: A mysterious stranger showed up at the Lux and swept Abby off her feet, but he may be carrying his own agenda. Connor received life-changing news, and had to adjust in ways he never imagined. Desperate to find new material, Nick looked for inspiration in unexpected places, but his adversary was never far behind. Raquel finally reached her breaking point, but would it forever ruin her chances of fulfilling her dreams? Coming: Abby could be heading for a fall.

SWITCHED AT BIRTH: Bay returned home from her summer in the Galapagos with a new boyfriend, whom she quickly tried to make part of the family. However, he soon realized that Bay's heart belongs to someone else. Bay was forced to accept that she won't be able to move on with another relationship until she can completely let go of her feelings for Emmett, who made his own agenda very clear. Angelo's order of deportation led to a shocking decision from Regina. Coming: Daphne finds an ally at work. VAMPIRE DIARIES: In a rebroadcast, Elena and Damon took a road trip together to check on whether Jeremy is safe living in Denver, and also to see if his special abilities could help to reveal the information they need about ancient vampire bloodlines. Unfortunately, they soon realized that Jeremy has been hanging out with the wrong people in his new home. Stefan and Klaus went to extremes that involved lots of blood and pain in their search for the missing weapon. Coming: An explosive situation at the dance gets everyone's attention.

YOUNG AND RESTLESS: While arguing with Sharon, Victoria knocked over a box that held everything Sharon had stolen. Following a hearing, Sharon was removed as CEO of Newman Enterprises and was replaced on an interim basis by Victoria. Tucker managed to convince a reluctant Sharon to go to Fairview, as Avery told Nick that Sharon has three days to prove that she's sane. Coming: Nikki acts on an unexpected discovery.

Katie Couric makes her move into daytime TV talk

By Jay Bobbin

Her new program may carry her name, but Katie Couric maintains "it isn't all about me."

The television veteran is following her tenures as co-anchor of NBC's "Today" and anchor and managing editor of "CBS Evening News" with her own talk show, as the syndicated "Katie" begins its weekday run Monday, Sept. 10. Many days, the hour will deal with one topic, and two or three on other days ... but Couric says the entire series will reflect her desire for "smart conversation" about widely relatable subjects she has her own experiences with, from caring for an aging parent to learning about cancer.

"There are no guarantees in this business," she says during a one-on-one chat in Los Angeles, "but I do think Jeff (Zucker, the show's executive producer and former NBC programming chief who also collaborated with Couric on 'Today') and I do have a good track record. We work really well together, and I hope when people hear our names, they'll think about quality television — and a certain sensibility and approach that is intelligent."

Though appearances by the famous will be in the "Katie" mix (Sheryl Crow is the composer-performer of the show's theme song), Couric is eager to showcase the achievements of people not as well-known.

"I've always been drawn to stories of everyday people who have overcome obstacles in their lives and have been put in situations they never envisioned — and have been able to get to the other side," she says. "Those are some of the most memorable interviews for me and, I think, some of the most moving for an audience."

The field of new syndicated talk fare is crowded: Ricki Lake returns to the genre and "Survivor" host Jeff Probst launches his show the same day "Katie" premieres, and comedian Steve Harvey has had a one-week jump on them. Couric brings the longest TV history, though, and most definitely her singular brand. She displayed it very personally while spending much of the summer visiting many of the markets and stations that will carry "Katie."

"I've been racking up a lot of frequent-flier miles," she says, "but it's been really fun. I have a lot of respect for local news; I did it myself for a number of years (in Miami and Washington, D.C.), and the stations I'm going to be on are great. I feel very flattered that they're welcoming me into their homes in a way, and it's important for me to know their people so we can feel connected."

For all the milestones she's had, Couric reasons the launch of "Katie" is "its own animal. This is not my first rodeo, and I'm not the fresh-faced young woman I was when I was named co-anchor of 'Today.' That was probably one of the watershed moments of my career, because I never in a million years envisioned having that job. It seemed surreal to me, but going into the talk show genre seems like a very natural progression of events for me."

With any move she makes, Couric has two other people to consider — Ellie and Carrie, her daughters by her late husband, attorney Jay Monahan — and she says they're all for her new show.

"I've always prided myself on the fact that the person I am off camera is the same person I am on camera, and I think they're excited for me to have a venue where I can show off the many different sides of who I am, from the serious to the ridiculous. I think they see this as an exciting next step."

TV PIPELINE

By Jay Bobbin

Q: Why did NBC put a couple of its new shows on so late at night during the Summer Olympics? — Susan Wise, Chicago

A: It was an effort to use the ratings platform of the Games — and those ratings turned out to be huge, even with so much tape-delayed coverage that NBC took a lot of criticism for — to get the shows sampled. In the case of the Matthew Perry comedy "Go On," the plan worked quite well, and NBC hopes the audience numbers will only build when the show starts its regular run this Tuesday, Sept. 11.

The network tried the same thing with "Animal Practice," but that backfired a bit when it decided to slip in the full episode preview before the Olympic closing ceremonies fully ended, making some viewers distinctly (and quite vocally) displeased. The veterinary clinic comedy begins its weekly run Sept. 26.

Q: What ever became of the child actors who played the children on "Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman"? — Elaine Jordan, Meeker, Colo.

A: Chad Allen (alias Matthew Cooper) has continued acting, appearing on Showtime's

Matthew Perry

"Dexter" during its 2010 season and also in such movies as "Hollywood, je t'aime" and "Fright Flick." Shawn Toovey (Brian Cooper) left acting, at least on a large scale, after a couple of "Dr. Quinn" TV movies that followed the end of the series. And Jessica Bowman (Colleen Cooper) still acts occasionally, her most recent credit being the movie "Striker"; she also appeared in Adam Sandler and Drew Barrymore's "50 First Dates" and Jean-Claude Van Damme's "Derailed." Q: Is that Dorian Harewood doing some announcing for NBC? It sure sounds like him. Is he doing any acting now? — Jeane Lewis, Columbus, Ohio

A: You have an excellent ear. The veteran of such movies as "Full Metal Jacket" and the original "Sparkle," and series including "I'll Fly Away" and "7th Heaven," has indeed been doing announcing for the network lately. It might not surprise you to know that much of his other work also has been in the voice-over realm, which has been the case for him for a long time. The video game "Diablo III" and the upcoming film "Biker Mice From Mars" are among his latest credits.

WOLFGANG PUCK'S KITCHEN
By Wolfgang Puck
MINI STRAWBERRY-SWIRL CHEESECAKES

You don't need any of the special equipment some cheesecake recipes require, particularly a springform pan with removable sides. In fact, they bake in 1-cup (250-ml) ramekins - and even a muffin pan will do fine. And my cheesecakes are crustless, so there's no musing or fussing with graham cracker or cookie crumbs.

You can use another kind of berry instead, if you like, such as raspberries, boysenberries or blueberries. Whatever your choice, try to find good-quality organic berries to ensure that you have the best-tasting, healthiest and most environmentally responsible results.

As for the cheese part, my recipe features the same creamy mixture we use to make Spago's popular cheesecake. I always get the best results from the widely available blocks of Philadelphia brand. Be sure to buy regular cream cheese - not whipped or light varieties.

And don't forget to make enough of these little treats. I love them so much, I've even been known to double the recipe. If you bake them in individual ceramic ramekins, you don't even have to unmold the extras. Just keep them covered with plastic wrap in the refrigerator and enjoy them several days later, right out of the mold or unmolded and decorated with more sauce and berries.

Just don't eat it standing up in front of the refrigerator.

STRAWBERRY COMPOTE:
3 baskets fresh strawberries, 1 pint each, hulled and cut into thick slices
3/4 cup granulated sugar
1-1/2 cinnamon sticks

SPAGO CHEESECAKE FILLING:
1-1/2 pounds cream cheese, cut into small pieces, at room temperature
1-1/4 cups granulated sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup sour cream
1 tablespoon dark rum
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
3 eggs
Water
Sliced fresh strawberries or whole blueberries, for garnish

Position the rack in the center of the oven. Preheat the oven to 350 degrees F. With non-stick cooking spray, coat each of a dozen 1-cup ramekins. Set aside.

First, make the Strawberry Compote: In a medium nonreactive saucepan, combine the berries, sugar and cinnamon sticks. Cook over medium-high heat, stirring occasionally, until the mixture thickens slightly and just coats the back of a spoon, about 15 minutes. Set aside to cool.

Prepare the Spago Cheesecake Filling: Put the cream cheese, sugar and salt in the large bowl of an electric mixer or in a large mixing bowl. Using the paddle or beaters of a handheld electric mixer, beat at medium speed until smooth, stopping occasionally to scrape down the sides and the beaters with a rubber spatula. Raise the speed to high and continue to beat until the mixture is creamy. Add the sour cream, rum, lemon juice and vanilla, and continue beating at medium speed until well blended. Add the eggs and beat just until combined.

Bring a kettle of water to a boil. Meanwhile, spoon about 1 tablespoon of the cooled Strawberry Compote into the bottom of each ramekin. Reserve the rest covered in the refrigerator. Fill each ramekin with the Spago Cheesecake Filling.

Arrange the ramekins in a large baking pan with sides. Open the oven, carefully slide out the shelf and place the baking pan on the shelf. Pour boiling water into the pan halfway up the sides of the ramekins. Carefully slide in the shelf, close the oven door and bake until the cheesecakes begin to pull away from the sides of the ramekins and are almost firm to the touch, 35 to 40 minutes.

Carefully remove the baking pan from the oven. Carefully lift out the ramekins and place on a wire rack and let cool. Refrigerate, covered, overnight.

When ready to serve, run a sharp knife around the inside edge of each ramekin and invert the cheesecake onto a serving plate. The compote will run down the sides of each cake. If they stick, dip the bottoms of the ramekins in hot water for 30 seconds to loosen the cheesecakes and try again.

Garnish with slices of fresh strawberries or a few blueberries. Serve immediately, accompanied by extra Strawberry Compote.
